OBJECT: Spontaneous candidature

Dear Sir,

Very interested by your service of engineering, I propose today my spontaneous candidature as an engineer. I was likely to discuss with several people working in your company and I felt moved by your company. Moreover, have the opportunity when one begins to take part in certain formations constitutes an exceptional chance.

I am titular of a diploma for the occupation of civil engineer mechanic with purpose specialized in management. At the time of these five years of studies, I was likely to receive a formation rich in concerning various fields but more particularly that of mechanics and management. Indeed, I had the possibility to take part in a formation of management at the time of my last year of studies in hec-ulg. During this formation, it was possible to me to study several aspects of management like the strategy and marketing of a company. A business plan for an organization developed in the third world was carried out.

Following these experiments, I will be very enthusiastic to be able to put my dynamism and my competences at the service of your company. I indeed think of having a good spirit of team and I would like to continue to look further into my knowledge like me to invest in a new function. I would really be honored to be selected for the job and would give my best to achieve it through a mutually beneficial partnership.

In the hope of being able to meet you, I remain sincerely yours.
